NEW YORK, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1888.

PRICE ONE CENT.

THE WIFE ON HER DEFENSE.

WITNESSES TELLING THE OTHER SIDE OF THE EAMES FAMILY TROUBLE.

A Carpenter Says There Were No Cracks in That Bedroom Door, but There Were Newly Bored Auger-Holes-The Vehement Testimony of a Former Servant-Another Sensational Case on Deck.

The chronicles of the day are not quite creditable to the City of Churches.

Sitting in the Brooklyn Supreme Courtroom, in which Justice Willard Bartlett is to-day listening to the unspeakable details of the marital troubles of Frank M. Esmes and Emma L. Esmes, his wife, were bluff Willtam F. Howe and sleek and dapper Jockey Jimmie McLaughlin.

As soon as the dirty linen of the Eames's has been thoroughly aired the case of Nelson King against Jockey McLaughlin will be jaken up, and it bids fair to be one of the most sensational of this era of sensation-

Mr. King appears as an injured husband, whose proud and scusitive heart has been damaged to the extent of $25,000, which sum he demands from the jockey for the slienation of the affections of his wife, who has a house at 3 Verona place, Brooklyn, under her maden mane of Libbic Curtis, and has boarded the little jockey there for more than boarded the little jockey there for more than ayear.

William A. Copp of this city, is prosecuting King's claim, and they will attempt to show that the separation of McLaughlin and his wife a year ago, when he gave her $15,000 in cold cash, was caused by his intimacy with the fair wife of the plaintiff.

Mr. Howe, however, declares the prosecution to be an attempt to blackmail the jockey. Lawyer Charles J. Patterson concluded his case in behalf of Frank M. Eames yesterday afternoon, Kitty Hoye and Aunia Scriven, the servants in the Eames household for two years, testifying to many questionable performances of Mrs. Eames and her young brother, George P. Hamilton.
The servants had seen them several times in most compromising situations, the details in most compromising situations, the details of which were related circumstantially, while twenty other women listened eagerly from seats in the auditorium.

The opening of Court this morning found another throng of people, including another score of women and two girls of not more than fifteen years, at the doors.

They were all adunt et, and again they listened to most startlingly realistic relations.

For the defense, a man named Savage, who had done work in the Eames house, testified that there was no crack in the bedroom door at that house through which Annie Scriven could possibly have seen what was going on inside, as she had related, but that in November he found freshly bored holes in the door. Catharine Dorian, who was once a servant at the Eames house, testified that four times Mr. Fames had tried to prevail upon her to at the Eames house, testified that four times Mr. Fames had tried to prevail upon her to testify against Mrs. Eames. While she was a servant in the house Eames often inquired of her as to how his wife and George Hamilton acted together and wanted her to act as his spy on Mrs. Fames. Miss Dorian first served the Eameses in 1884, and she related jealous acts of Eames against George Hamilton, who was then "only a little boy, playing around with Mrs. Eames's children."

Under cross-examination Miss Dorian declared that the bedroom which has been in controversy throughout the trial was used as a sitting-room. She got full of wrath at the cross-examiner. Mr. Patterson, and almost shrieked: "Don't think that I am here to be made a tool! I am telling the truth and nothing else."

She was as much of a partisan in behalf of

She was as much of a partisan in behalf of the wife as the other two servants had been for the husband. She declared that George had never gone into that room with Mrs. Eames, so far as she knew. It was the only sitting-room, and had a stove in it. The bedroom-sitting-room door was some-times closed, but never locked, and the chil-

Lawer Patterson insurance form a bedroom, and the witnesses of words ensued, and Justice Bartlett interfered, to oblige the unfair cross-examiner to be more fair, and the hot and excited young woman shouted: "Judge, I am telling the trath, honest! I wasn't there to watch Mr. Eames or Mrs. Eames: but I know there was no wrongdoing there."

George Hamilton sometimes left the house by the back way. He lived with his mother, and by jumping the fence or passible the back way. He lived with his mother, where two pickets were sent to collect as the form to get a cent." and Miss Metove.

Have you used the machine?" asked Judge Lachman.

We haven't touched it since it's been there. Judge. We had no use for it and we never ordered it, and I'd like to know if we can't charge them for lumbering up our place with it.

Judge Lachman suggested that, under the circumstances, it might be advisable for the company to return the one-dollar deposit and take the machine away.

The sum of the machine?" asked Judge Lachman with the company to the machine?" asked Judge Lachman with the company to the machine?" asked Judge Lachman in the properties of the machine?" asked Judge Lachman with the company to return the one-dollar deposit and take the machine?" asked Judge Lachman suggested that, under the circumstances, it might be advisable for the company to return the one-dollar deposit and take the machine?" we won't pay lack that dollar. "No, no, Your Honor," objected the company to return the one-dollar deposit and take the machine?" asked Judge Lachman.

Eames or Mrs. Eames: but I know there was no wrongdoing there."

George Hamilton sometimes left the house by the back way. He lived with his mother, next door, and by jumping the fence or passing through a hole where two pickets were out he reached his own yard.

Much ado had heretofore been made over the fact that George Hamilton had frequently left the house by the back way, clambering over a high fence, and it had been deftly insinua'ed that this mode of exit was adopted to evade the returning husband.

Clarence H. Clayion, of 242 West Fifty-second street, New York, next took the stand to account for the whereabouts of George Hamilton during most of the days which he was said to have spent with his sister. He was the employer of Hamilton, and stated that the youth was employed from 9 A. N. to 6 P. M. in June and July, 1887, the months in which the servants yesterday claimed that he was a doily visitor to his sister. He had a half beliday about everytim neather. was a daily visitor to his sister. He had a half holiday about every two months.

KELLY IN THE TOILS.

His Bold Theft in the Chatham Bank Wine Him a Place in the Rogues' Gallery.

James Kelly, the young man who snatched a bank book and $140 from the hands of Lawyer Howard Emerson, of 206 Broadway, as the latter stood in line at the Chatham National Bank yesterday, and afterwards tried to stab his purshers, had his picture taken for the Rognes'
Gallery this morning.

Then he was taken to the Tombs Police Court and held in $2,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Justice O Reilly complimented Capt. McLaughlin on his skill in catching the young robber.

Dr. Dayley's Check No Good.

Dr. H. B. Dayley, of Washington, D. C., on Dec, 11 paid his bill at the Mitchell House, Broadway and Forty-second street, with a check on the Bowery National Bank for $40, receiving $23 change. On the 15th he made as other payment with a $75 check on the Seventh National Bank, the signature being 3. L. Snyder. At that bank it was learned that there was no account there in that name, and Dayley was arrested. At the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning he was held in $500 ball for examination on Dec. 22.

Indiana Budly in Need of Money.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—A special from Indian apolis says the State Treasurer is badly in need of funds, and the Legislature will have to bor row about $2,000,000 to carry the State through for the next two years.

Escape of a Canadian Burglar.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WOLLD.]
KINGSTON, Ont., Dec. 18.—Thomas Thanton, serving a five years' sentence in the Penitentiary for burglary in Toronto, escaped yesterday afternoon and is believed to have gone to the United States, POISON AFTER A MURDER.

A Newfoundland Merchant Thought to Have Been Killed by a Former Partner.

ISPECIAL TO THE WORLD. I St. Jours, N. F., Dec. 18.-Have the police clved the mystery of the murder of Archibald Sillars is a question which is discussed by every one here. William Parnell was carried from his bed of sickness and lodged in the penitentiary on a charge of being the murderer, but he has many friends and many warm defenders. Murder is so rare a crime in Newfoundiand that the excitement caused by the affair is great, independent of the standing of the supposed murderor and the victim and the poculiar circumstances of the crime. Archibald Sillars was a member of the drygoods firm of Sillars & Cairns, and on the morning of Dec. I was found dead at the bottom of ing of Dec. I was found dead at the bettom of the stairs in the basement, a few feet from his private office. A medical examination revealed two bullet holes in the chost and several scalp wounds. The index finger of the left hand was broken, as if it had been struck in a struggle, while the back of the other hand was lacerated. Beside the body were found Sillars's false teeth, and spectacles and the cartridge cylinder of a revelver, one chamber being lended. This had to the conclusion that the murderer had shot Mr. Sillars and afterwards had beaten him on the head will the buttend of the revolver. All the doors of the house were locked and there had seen no attempted robbery, Sillars was a considerable with the butter of the interest of the state of the second standard of the product.

doors of the house were locked and there had been no attempted robbery, Silars's walch and sew-by being left undisturbed, as was a considerable amount of money in his pocket.

The theory which seemed to gain favor with the police was that Sillars had been killed by a revenigeful debtor. It was while the books of the firm were being sone over, on this theory, two days later, that another surprise came in the report that William Parnell, a well-known business man, connected with the firm of Sillars & Cairus, had died suddenly. This report threat out to be incorrect, but it was learned that he had taken a quantity of strychnine and his life, was saved with difficulty. This attempt at suicide gave the police a new idea. When last seen alive Sillars was closeted with Parnell, who occupied the top flat in the building used by Sillars & Cairus, and it was on the night of the murder that the doctors were first called to attend him for strychnine poisoning. Parnell was at once placed under police surveillance. It is not known yet what the magisterial investigation has revealed, but it is learned that stains of blood were found on Parnell's boots and that several cartridges which would fit the revolver cylinder were found in his desk. The trial will not take place until May next.

If the present suspicious are sustained by evidence, the relations between the accused and the nurdered man may throw some light on the motive. Archibald Sillars came to Newfoundand from Scotland thirty years ago and worked himself into partnership with his employer, Cairas. The latter shortly afterwards left the colony for Cairada, and the whole business reverted to Sillars. In 1882 his health began to give way, and he took Parnell into partnership, the latter putting $10,000, his entire savings, into the business and agreeing to pay a further sum in yearly installments. Two years ago Parnell failed, and Sillars came in as an ordinary creditor, and was appointed to wind up the catale. Sillars lost considerable by the failure and killed him for

SHE WOULDN'T BE BULLDOZED.

And Judge Luchman Sustained Her Against the Sewing-Machine Company. "The New Home Sewing-Machine Company against Mary McGovern," said Judge Lachman, n calling the calendar of the Sixth District Court yesterday morning.

"I'm here, sir," said Miss McGovern.

"We sue for the recovery of a machine, Your Honor, which the defendant has had in her posession for two years and a half, "said the company's lawyer. Miss McGovern was her own awyer, and she had no fool for a client. "This is the first time I have ever been called for the husband. She declared that George had never gone into that room with Mrs. Eames, so far as she knew. It was the only sitting-room, and had a stove in it.

The bedroom-sitting-room door was sometimes closed, but never locked, and the children were usually there.

Lawer Patterson insisting on calling this room, a bedroom, and the witness just as tenaciously calling it the sitting-room, a war of words ensued, and Justice Bartlett interfered, to oblige the unfair cross-examiner to be more fair, and the hot and excited young woman shouted: "Judge, I am telling the truth, honest: I wasn't there to watch Mr. Eames or Mrs. Eames: but I know there was to content of the machine, although we sent them word two or three times to come and take it away. Now this man wants to collect the price of the machine, although in all that time they never sent to collect anything. He's not going the content of the machine, although in all that time they never sent to collect anything. He's not going the content of the machine, although in all that time they never sent to collect anything. He's not going the collect anything and there's no reason why I should be now. These are the nor reason why I should be now. These are the nor reason why I should be now. These are the nor and tive months ago somebody representing this company left a machine with us. We didn't want it, and the agent was somebody representing this company left a machine with us. We didn't want it, and the agent was tool divident want it, and the agent was somebody representing their company left a machine with us. We didn't want it, and the agent was tool divident want it, and the agent was tool of women was a dollar, and the search w nto a Court of law, sir," she said, "and there's company to return the one-dollar deposit and take the machine away.

'No, no, Your Honor," objected the company's lawyer; "we won't pay back that dollar."

Then there will be a counter-claim for storage, "said the Judge, "and we will set the case down for trial."

Whereupon the company's representative down for trial."

Whereupon the company's representative weakened, agreed to refund the dollar and thankfully consented to receive the machine.

Death of an Old Circus Man.

L. C. Smith, better known as Billy Malson, an old-time circus clown and manager, died at the St. Charles Hotel Sunday, of Bright's disease, after an illness of four weeks. Smith was clown in Watson & Wells's circus twenty years ago, and afterwards became proprietor of the show. He was not very successful, and about twelve years ago sold out and took the situation of cierk of the St. Charles, where he had since remained. He was forty-one years old and leaves a wife.

They Want a New Club-House. The Young Men's Democratic Club met last night at the Hoffman House to consider a proposition to raise the dues to $10 a year and establish a club-house. John D. Crimmins offered to be one of fifty men to give $100 towards fur-nishing a new house for the Club, and the proposition to increase the dues was voted down until it is known whether the Club is to have a club-house or not.

One Mourner at Rush Brawley's Grave. The remains of R. Rush Brawley, the story of whose life of adventure was told in THE WORLD recently, were buried at Cypress Hills yesterday. His wealthy relatives, who were apprised of his death, refused to render any assistance and the funeral expenses were borne by Major Orange H. Stevens, an old friend of the declased. He was the only mourner at the grave.

Brooklyn News in Brief.

A section of men from the First Precinct raided Daniel Donovan's house, 109 Tillary street, early this morning and arrested the pro-prietor and six inmates. J. P. Hayes's residence, 22 Prospect place. Charles Smith, an expressman for G. W. Wright, of 210 Manhattan avenue, was this morning held by Justice Nacher to answer a charge of retaining $100 intrusted to him by his $500 or a Cure.

For many years the manufacturers of Dr. Saor's Catabin Rismeny, who are theroughy responsible financially, as any one can easily ascertsin by inquiry, have offered through nearly every newspaper in the land a standing reward of $500 for a case of chronic nasal catarrh, no matter how bad, or of how long standing, which they cannot cure. The remedy is mild, soothing, cleansing, antiseptic and healing. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents.

THE SMELL AT KOSMAK'S.

IT IS CLAIMED TO HAVE DONE A DAMAGE OF $50,000.

Sewer Furnishes the Odor, and as the City Furnishes the Sewer, Mr. Kosmak Has Sued the Corporation-The Good-Looking Saloon-Keeper's Bank Account

Brought In to Offset the Damage. Emil Kosmak, who keeps the saloon near the Brooklyn Bridge, under the Coroner's office, is suing the Mayor, as head of the city government, for $50,000. This sum, Mr. Kosmak claims, represents his losses in the last few years, caused by a detective sewer.

The sewer broke several times, he alleges, and flooded his cellar, giving rise to a noisome smell. That smell just rose in its might and went in to ruin the good-looking saloon-keeper's business. His best customers left him, saying that they would not parronize him while the Coroners held autopsies upstairs. In vain he assured them that it was only an inoffensive sured them that it was only an include sure in the basement.

Mr. Kosmak then found that the foul gas was coating his ceiling, the walls and the glassware, and even destroying the silky taste of his best irrewater; so he thought it gassware, and even destroying the slay taste of his best firewater: so he thought it was about time to kick.

The case is going on before Judge Beach in Supreme Court, Part IV.

Lawyers Blandy and Levenhitt are the legal advisers for the plaintiff. Mr. Wingmeyer appears for the Corporation Counsel, who looks after the city's interests.

Mr. Kosmak was on the stand this morning.
Mr. Blandy questioned him in his own interest, and incidentally told Judge Beach that the same defective sewerage was the cause of much trouble to His Honor, Mayor Hewitt, last Summer.

"Every one knows," said Mr. Blandy, "that our Mayor pot malaria, and had to move out of his office until the sewer could be fixed and that foul smell done away with. Now it was that same toul odor which dam-be fixed and that foul smell done away with. Now it was that same foul odor which damaged Mr. Kosmak's business."

When Mr. Wingmeyer took the witness in hand it did not seem to be quite so clear. He had Mr. Kosmak's bank account, and by it he showed that the saloon-keeper had been steadily increasing in wealth every year up to the present time.

In 1885, for instance, when that smell first appeared, he deposited $29,000, or $6,000 more than he did the year before.

He said that $5,000 of that was borrowed money, but even so he was still $1,000 ahead of 1882.

of 1882.

'Your rents are $3,600 a year. How much is that a month?' saked the Judge.

This nearly floored Mr. Kosmak. He produced pencil and paper, and with knitted brows figured it out. Every one laughed, but finally he got the right answer.

AFTER HIM WITH A SHARP STICK.

Silver-Dollar Smith Had Better Buy a Pair of Leather Breeches at Once. While the Republican Assemblyman-elect from the Eighth District, Johnny O'Brien's loyal henchman Silver-Dollar Charley Smith. oudly protests his intention of taking the ironclad oath of office and defies the Reform Club to prosecute him for perjury, the latter organizaprosecute num for perjury. The latter organiza-tion is preparing its evidence to present to the Albany County Grand Jury for his indictment. The club claims to have indisputable evidence of bribery in three of the election districts of the Eighth Assembly District, and is said to be armed with affidavits and the names of witnesses almost innumerable to prove that Silver Dollar Smith, who says that he hatos bribery so heart-ily, is not nearly so pure a politician as he claims to be. claims to be.

The Reformers are after Smith with a particularly sharp stick this time.

BAD LOANS BY THE CASHIER.

Payment-No Loss to Depositors.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.-The California National Bank of this city suspended payment yesterday. It was given out at the time that the dispension was caused by the "irregularities" on the part of Cashier Ramsden.

This morning it is stated that the termed "irregularities" are not of a criminal nature, consisting principally of bad loans.

The bank was incorporated in 1886 as a joint stock organization, with a capital of $1,000,000, of this amount $200,000 was subscribed

The loss to the bank on the bad loans, &c., are not yet known.

R. P. Thomas, President, says the bank has sufficient funds to insure all their depositors

CURTIS AND FELL FIGHT A DRAW.

The Decision Augered Fell, Who Struck the Referce, and a General Melee Followed.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] CHICAGO, Dec. 18.-A special from Ean Claire, Wis., says: A most brutal prize-fight occurred here last night between James Fell. nampion of Michigan, and J. W. Curtis, of Duluch.

In the seventh round both sides claimed a foul, and the referee declared the fight a draw, whereupon Fell struck him in the face. The audience then jumped into the ring and a general melee took place.

"Candy King" Fowle Is Happy. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

Boston, Dec. 18.—The jury in the case of Joseph Fowle, the colored "Candy King," charged with obtaining money by false pretenses from the Collateral Loan Company and Lawyer J. H., Appleton, after being out from 3 o'clock Monday until 0,20 this forenoon, came into Court and reported that as to the counts relating to the Collateral Loan Company they found the defendant not guilty, and that as to the counts relating to Lawyer Appleton they could not agree.

The Latest Advertising Dodge.

The proprietor of a large liquor store on Fulon street, Brooklyn, has started the latest dodge in advertising. Last evening he had thousands of pink and white carnations and make delivered at his store and gave one of the flowers to each of his patrons. The result was, sait to say, that nearly every other man who perambulated Fulton street wore a carnation in the lapel of his coat.

King Milan at the Mercy of Radicals. [BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION] VIENNA, Dec. 18, -The new Servian Assembly is classified as follows: Radicals, 428; Liberals, 81; Progressists, 3.

Unless King Milan resorts to arbitrary measures, in which he must have the support of one of the great Powers, he will be completely at the mercy of this Assembly, in which he hardly has a friend.

The Amberg and Jacobs Trouble. Judge Andrews has, by consent of counsel. dissolved the injunction restricting Messrs. Amberg and Jacobs from giving English perform-ances in the Thalia Theatre. The case will come up on an appeal in the General Term in FebruSIGHTED IN A HEAVY GALE.

News Comes of One of the Long Overdue Coconnut Vessels.

The fate of the coccanut vessels, Frederick Schepp and Nile, which are now nearly two weeks overdue from Aspinwall, is still doubtful, hough a ray of hope has come to the owners today. The Belgian steamer Kepler, from Rio day. The Belgian steamer Kepler, from the Janeiro, just arrived, reports that at 8 A. M. On Thursday last, in latitude 9, 40 south, longitude 54, 35, she passed a white two-masted top-ni schooner going north in a heavy gale. Mr. Schepp said that this white two-masted schooner was undoubtedly the Frederick Schepp and bases his belief on the fact that she was in the line of her regular route from Aspinwall. As to the 1,000,000 cocconnuts, Mr. Schepp said he was afraid they had been thrown overboard.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

GREENFIELD, Mass., Dec. 18.—The trestle work over the Deerfield River, on the Fitchburg Whites and Blacks Ready to Railroad at the east portal of the tunnel was carried away by the storm last night.

FIREMEN ARE INDIGNANT.

A Clothing Firm Accuses Them of Stealing Overcoats.

The members of the Fire Department who inswered the alarm of fire. Monday morning at 160 and 162 Crosby street, are indiguant at the harges made by the firm of Hyams Brothers &

Engine Company 33 and the are patrol located in Great Jones street were the first on the round, and the officers of both companies deduce it impossible that any members of their commands should have carried off the clothing. Yesterday Mr. Hyams claimed that three overseats had been stolen, but when an Evinna both vious reporter called on him this morning he The Fire Marshal will investigate the charges | hews of a Decisive Conflict Is Ex-

TO HOLD AN EXTRA SESSION.

Gen. Harrison Accidentally Lets Fall One of His Secrets.

ISPECIAL TO THE WORLD. Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—There will be a special ession of Congress immediately after Gen. Haron's inauguration. To-day he let fall the ansuncement accidentally to a delegation from Brooklyn, N. Y., which came representing the Grand Army of the Republic posts of Kings county to obtain his promise to attend their Memorial Day exercises. The Committee consisted of Wm. H. Barker, for fifteen years Journal Clerk of the Senate; George A. Price, of Balch, Price & Co., of Fulton street, commander of Grant Post, and Henry W. Knight, Secretary of he Methodist Book Concern and a member of the publishing firm of Bryan, Taylor & Co. Mr. Knight is Past Grand Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in the State.

The delegation came to town absolutely without any political mission, and they told Attorney-General Michener so. Attorney-General Michener telephoned Gen. Harrison that he had found a committee of visitors who didn't want a single office. Gen. Harrison answered that it would be a unique sight to him and he would like the Committe brought to his house right away. On reaching the Harrison house the visitors were warmly welcomed. They told the General their story. What they propose is to have him review story. What they propose is to have him review their parade in the morning, attend the services at Gen. Grant's tomb at Riverside Park in the afternoon and be at a grand celebration at the Academy of Music in the evening.

This is what Gen. Harrison told them when they had finished: that it was impossible for him to make a promise to grant their request, although he looked with great favor on it. It would be, he said, the first year of his administration and within less than ninety days of his inanguration, and, besides, it was probable that Congress would be in session and there would be a number of bills before him for consideration and signature.

They asked the General at least not to make any promise to attend Memorial Day ceremonies elsewhere, and he said he would agree to finst. Then they telegraphed back to Brooklyn this message:

Didn't give definite promise, but very hopeful.

Mr. Barker will hurry home to-morrow to attend a meeting of the Republican Spellbinders' National Association at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Wednesday.

The story of Thomas C. Platt's virtues was poured into Gen. Harrison's ear for a whole hour this afternoon by Judge John Rooney, of Brooklyn, who thinks he has some right to talk to Gen. Harrison, having organized thirteen clubs for him among the Irish voters of Brooklyn. All Judge Rooney had to say regarding the issue of his interview was that Gen. Harrison was a good listener. The only notion he gleaned which he thought of moment was that there would be no Bayard in the coming administration—no truckling to foreign interests.

The Southern question had a hearing in Gen. Harrison's parlor to-day also. Ex-Gov. Harrison Reed, who was in the Gubernatorial chair in Florida during the reconstruction era, called on the President-elect and they talked for a long time on the subject nearest to Harrison's heart. Gov. Reed is a resident of Jacksonville.

Among Gen. Harrison's presents to-day was a live sheep. Who went it is not known yet. A lady in California sent Mrs. Harrison twenty handkerchiefs.

A delegation will arrive to-morrow from Birhardkerchiefs.

A delegation will arrive to-morrow from Birmingham, Ala., representing the manufacturers of that section, for the purpose of presenting to the President-elect a congratulatory memorial. the President-elect a congratulatory memorial. They are said to represent a combined capital of $100,000,000 invested entirely in the South. Several of the delegation and many of the signers of the memorial are reported to be Democrats who voted the Republican ticket on account of its advocacy of Protection.

Kutherford B. Hayes will arrive to-morrow night to attend the meeting of the Loyal Legion.

RUSSELL HARBISON DENIES A YARN.

RUSSELL HARRISON DENIES A YARN.

Russell Harrison broke through his reserv, yesterday, and in an interview demounced the story of the theft of $40,000 in campaign funds by two Republican politicians in Indiana. He said to a reporter: The story is wholly untrue. The vonchers in the hands of the Indiana State Central Cennitee, at the close of the campaign, showed a small balance in hand. I did not visit Pittsburg, as it is alleged, during the campaign, nor have I been there since. Mr. W. R. McKean told me that he had himself examined and checked off the vouchers for every dollar received and expended and found them correct.

Senator Quay Will Soon Know Mr. Harrison. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 18, -- Senator Quay, his son Richard, and Thomas Britton, of the Inauguration Comm t.re, passed through the city this morning en route to Indianapolis. Mr. Britton will confer with Gen. Harrison relative to final will confer with Gen. Harrison relative to final arrangements for the trianguration, while Mr. Quay will talk with the General about his Calin-net. He admitted that he would push the claims or John Wansmaker for a place in the Cabinet. The party will arrive at Indianapolis at 10.30 to-night.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] BUFFALO, Dec. 18.-A Niagara Falls special says a man has appeared there who claims to be says a man has appeared there who claims to be a second John the Baptist. He is about sixty-five years of age, and drives an old horse and top biggy with a banner hoisted on a pole and embellished with Scripture texts announcing the second coming of Christ.

Claims to Be a Second John the Baptist.

Industrial School Pupils Strike. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] PITTSBURG, Dec. 18 .- The pupils of the Avery industrial School are on a strike, demanding the

2 O'CLOCK.

BATTLE

Fight at Wahalak.

All Mississippi Aroused Over the Bitter Race War.

Awaiting an Attack.

pected Every Minute. INPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD ! COLUMBUS. Miss., Dec. 18.—The wildest excitement prevails throughout the eastern section of the State over the race riot five miles from Wahalak, in Kemper County. The latest advices from the scene state that the negroes to the number of 600 have retreated to the swamps and are fortifying themselves and sparing no effort to resist to the last any attack. They have an abundant supply of ammunition, and are armed with muskets, shotguns and pistols. Beyond a doubt there are now 400 whites gathered in and around Wahalak, and they are bent upon avenging the murderous attack on Constable Cobb's posse. They are armed to the teeth with Winchester rifles, shotguns and side arms, That the whites will soon advance upon the swamps there is not a shadow of doubt, and the result will be fearful. News of a battle is momentarily expected, but the telegraph facilities at Wabalak are poor and the only wire to that point this morning was not in good order.

The negroes are intrenched in the from Wahslak.

A company of riflemen here is ready to proceed to the battle-ground, but have not vet received orders from the Governor.

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE. Politics has nothing whatever to do with this outbreak. It seems that yesterday even-ing two boys, one white, the other colored, got into a fight. Tom Nicholson, the father of the white boy attempted to separate then when Manry, the father of the negro, immped ner. Mr. Nicholson swore out a warrant against Maury which was placed in the hands of the constable, who found him with quite a crowd of other negroes barricaded in a

The crowd refused to pay any attention to The crowd refused to pay any attention to the officer or his warrant and defied the law, saying Manry should not be arrested. Not satisfied with defying the law they attacked the officer and beat him severely before they would allow him to go. He returned to the town and summoned a posse of twelve meu, who proceeded at ouce to the point where the negroes were fortified, to demand the surrender of Manry.

render of Maury.
The negroes, however, had abandoned The negroes, however, had abandoned their house and were secreted in the woods near by, and, as the constable with his posse neared the house they were fired upon from the ambush.

FIVE WHITE MEN KILLED.

Constable Cobb and four of his posse fell dead at the first volley, and there was only one man in the twelve who escaped unburt, some of them being very seriously wounded. The whites, seeing that they were only a handful compared to the large crowd of negroes who were opposed to them and who numbered several hundred, retreated, leaving their dead on the field, and followed by jeers and shouts of the black murderers, who were armed to the teeth and had used who were armed to the teeth and had used double-barelled shotguns with such deadly effect on the officers of the law. Upon the return of the remnant of the itlest excitement. The signature was telegraphed to the neighboring towns and preparations were at once made to attack the negroes as soon as reinforcements arrived.

The news of the slaughter caused intense excitement wherever it was known. Offers of assistance came from all quarters.

osse to the town the scene was one of the

WHITES HUERY TO THE SCENE

A special train was made up at Meridian with about seventy-five determined men on board, and left for the scene of the conflict. This number was increased at every station along the road.

No engine could be had north of Wahalak

ANOTHER LINK IN THE CHAIN

YET STRONGER GROWS THE ALIBI CLAIMED FOR FREDERICK WITTE.

Police Captain's Son Saw Him on That Thursday Noon Far from the House of the Samuels The Prisoner Is Much Cast Down by the Loss of His Job, but Has Plenty of Sympathy to Help Him Through.

Another link has been picked up in the chain of evidence which goes to establish the alibi set up by Frederick Witte, who is accused of having burglarized the apartments of Mrs. Sarah Samuels on Thursday last. The son of a well-known Police Captain was standing on the corner of Cherry and Roosevelt streets at 12.40 o'clock last Thursday afternoon talking with a friend when Witte passed by.

He knew Witte, and as the latter passed him they nodded to each other. This circumstance was forgotten by the accused man, and would probably not have been recalled but that the witness happened to bo in Sommers's saloon, 32 Cherry street, on Saturday last, when Witte's case was brought up in conversation. Then the Captain's son said: "Why, yes. It's a Engine Company 33 and the fire patrol located r. Great Jones street were the first on the self, about 12.45 Thursday, going through Roosevelt street."

This witness will not be summoned to testify as Lawyer Keane says that the alibi is complete without him.

Witte was engaged in reading the morning papers when an Evenino World reporter called on him this morning. In conversation he said: "It's no use in trying to be he said: "It's no use in trying to be good. I've been out of prison over twenty-eight months, and during that time I've led an honest life. When I first got out I worked on a steamboat and then I went to longshoring. A little over a year ago I secured the situation in the Court-House, and was happy in the thought that I had a steady situation and could live honestly.

"In all that time there has never been a aomplaint against me, I have never lost a day's work, except when I attended the funeral of a friend, and hobody can say that I ever came to work drunk, or, for that matter, that they have ever seen me drunk since I was released.

ter, that they have ever seen me drunk since I was released.

"I slwsys retired at 10 o'clock, except when I stiended the theatre or a ball, and yet I am arrested on a false charge and held on a false identification. When a man once goes wrong there's no chance for him.

"I can get any amount of bail to insure my good behavior, but I've lost my job and there's nothing for me to do but to steal."

The keepers of the Jefferson Market Prison sympathize with the young man and pronounce his incarceration as an outrage.

SAM MERRITT BEATING THE GAME. Armed with an Axe He Declares War of Bridgeport Gambling-Houses.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 18 .- Sam Merritt. the tall, good-natured pedestrian who gave Rowell such a hard rub, gave himself up to the police yesterday, and was allowed to depart after depositing a cash bond of $25.

Sam had committed an assault on John Hanon. He met Hanson in the Atlantic House bar-son. He met Hanson in the Atlantic House barroom, knocked him down and gave him a severe thrashing. Merritt accused Hanson of informing against Moran's faro game, which the police raided last Tuesday.

Last night Merritt was walking around town with an axe over his shoulder. He was accompanied by several stalwart friends.

Last Saurday night Merritt chopped up the tables, chairs and wheel of Farrell's keno joint. Several temperance societies and the Woman's Christian Workers gave high praise to Merritt for the destruction of a gambling den.

This no doubt has inspired Merrit to go on with the good work. He gives out that he intends to chop up every gambling place in the city. The gamblers have closed their rooms during the reign of terror.

Mr. Merritt is accomplishing a work in which the pelice have been unsuccessful. The Woman's Temperance Union is raising a purse for Mr. Merritt.

DEATH OF CHARLES ROGERS.

Mattie Vickers's Husband Expires Suddenly on the Limited Express Near Pittsburg. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] PITTSBURG, Dec. 18.—Charles Rogers, the usband of Actress Mattie Vickers, died suddealy on the limited express this morning.

Henry Rains Cause Washouts and Delays

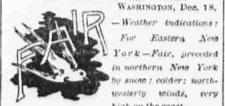

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
PUTNAM, Conn., Dec. 18.—The heavy rains hat have fallen for the past twenty-four hours have caused numerous washouts in this section The New England limited express was ditched at East Thompson last night, but as far as can be earned, no great damage resulted. There was a delay of twelve hours.

His Head Crushed by the Wheel. Edward Connolly, of 633 One Hundred and Fortieth street, while turning a wheel used for raising a bridge on the New Haven Railroad this morning was instantly killed. His head in some way came in contact with the wheel, resulting in a fracture of the skull.

Clifton Entries for To-Morrow. CLIFTON BACK TRACK, N.J., Dec. 18, -Following are the entries for Thursday, Dec. 19, First Race-Pures $55.6 on tills. Harrodsburg, 118. Relax, 115. Friar, 115. Charley Arnold, 115. Alex, T. 115. Fran Strike, 115. Brytwood, 115. Granting, 115. Learner McFariand, 115. Brytwood, 115. Granting, 115. Marie, 250 seven furlongs; sellinsuness. George Corbett, 107. Wheat, 107. Bay Ridge, 101: Manie, 86, Jack Cocks, 86; Gambetta, 8(1b).

Ridge, 101; Marie, 80; dres coccas, 81; comberts, 80; lb.
Third Race—Purse $250; seven-eighths of a mile; selling allowances.—Anomaly, 107; lattic Mickey, 101; Lorra, 30; Gracie, 80; Siumber, 80; Hiida, 80; lb.
Fourth Race—Purse $250; nois and an eighth; selling allowances. Borianza, 110; Souvenir, 107; Clay Pate, 105; Quincy, 102; Easterbok, 98; Full Sali, 96; Futherity, 83; lb.
Fifth Race—Purse $500; air and one-half furlongs; selling allowances. Bishop, 110; Speedwell, 105; Garcella, 105; Fredigal, 10; Wahoo, 105; Gaccella, 105; Bordel, 97; Cart Fell, 90; May T., 190; Gound, 10; Giory, 87; 80; 80; Servia, 82; lp.

Fair, Colder and High Winds, WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.

high on the coast.

The Weather To-Day.

PRICE ONE CENT.

She Quits Blackwell's Island at 9 O'Clock This Morning.

Luther R. Marsh's Nephew Accompanied Her Over the River.

She Was Driven Off in a Cab from East Fifty-second Street.

A Long and Stern Chase by an " Evening World " Reporter.

Ann O'Delia Editha Loleta Lola Montez Salamon Messart Diss Debar, high priestess of all the spocks of Spockville, is again at large, having been set free by her host of the past six months, Warden Pillsbury, of the Hotel de Penitentiary, Blackwell's Island. The fat priestess is now ready to invite the immortal shades of all the illustrious departed, and is casting her eyes about for a soft spot where she can rest and paint spirit pictures at reduced rates.

Princess Loleta looks coarse and flabby When she arose from her virtuous though hard couch in cell No. 15, second floor of the workhouse, at precisely 6 o'clock this morning, she gazed with a sigh out of the little aperture, called by courtesy a window, on the turbulent waters of the East River, fringed by the stunted willows near the water's edge.

pected, and she heaved a second as she drew on one of her coarse woollen stockings. It scraped her delicate skin and she shuddered. She had drawn its mate half way on when suddenly she stopped and stood upright. Her eyes were riveted on a speck moving rapidly over the water. It was barely dawn, and it was some time before she was sure of what she was looking at.

Her sigh was a large one as might be ex-

Then she solid quized:

"I cannot be mistaken. It is he. It must I cannot be mistaken. It is he. It must

Then she muttered something very like cuss words, for she had made out THE EVEN-ING WORLD reporter crossing in a small boat to be the first to greet her when she left the Thoroughly disgusted, Ann sat down and ruminated on the bad reporters while she drew on the other half of the stocking. Other necessary articles of wearing apparel were put on, and then she donned for the last time her prison suit of striped awning speeds.

goods.

Thus arrayed, she glanced at herself with some difficulty, and, seemingly satisfied, waited patiently for the signal for breakfast. It came at 6.45, and for about the 180th time she swallowed a luxurious repast of rye coffee and dry bread. and dry bread.

Then Ann, trotted complacently back to her cell. Was she not to be free in a couple of hours, and why shouldn't she m-dulge in pleasant thoughts?

At 8.30 o'clock the Princess was escorted to the reception, or sewing room in the fourth tier, where she stripped off her prison duds. Then she donned underwear of the finest quality. A rich black dress was buttoned on and a rich plush sacque, with a lace muffler, completed her apparel. A jaunty black velyet bonnet graced her queenly head and then she was ready to be weighed.

and then she was ready to be weighed.

This operation was conducted in the barber shop on the ground floor. Gingerly she stepped on the weighing platform and the scales flew around to a high mark.

While all this going on Clerk Crane, in the Warden's office, was entering Ann's discharge in the big ledger.

Two envelopes lay on the deak containing her effects. These were two breastpins, one pencil-case, a plain gold ring, 37 cents and some private papers.

Six other prisoners sat on a bench waiting to be discharged with "Ann O'Delia Salamon," for such was the name she was entered by.

The Evening World reporter entered into conversation with one of the prisoner at-

THE EVENING WORLD reporter entered into conversation with one of the prisoner attaches of the office. From him he learned that Ann will take to the stage. She will appear in her prison dress, and it is to be made from stuff procured from a well-known drygoods firm.

The prisoner said that he learned all this is the hearing agrees of conversation in the hearing scraps of conversation in The reporter also learned that Frank Hall, the walking-match and skating-rink man-ager, of Philadelphia, was to be her man-Ager.

Keeper Kennedy and the devoted Stewart escorted her to the little tug. W. H. Wickham, which my patiently at the dock awaiting its 9 o'clock load. its 9 o'clock load.

The reporters brought up in the rear. Ann O'Delia turned once and waved a white hand-kerchief at the building. It was a sort of final farewell, but there was no sorrow in the parting.

Madame then entered the after-cabin of the Madame then entered the after-cabin of the little tug.

The Evening World reporter followed.

At the foot of East Fifty-second street Radame and Stewart took a cab. So did The Evening World reporter, who had fortunately engaged one beforehand.

Then commenced a chase. The route lay up Fifty-second street to Second avenue, to Fifty-sixth street, to Madison avenue, to Archbishop Corrigan's residence.

There madame got out.

Archbishop Corrigan's research.

There maiame got out.
So did the reporter, but he couldn't imagine what she was going there for except for absolution. He asked Stewart. He didn't and

After a while the madame came out, and after a short drive alighted at 343 West Thirty-fourth street.

This proved to be the residence of madame's lawyer, Mr. John B. Townsend.

HAYTUS PRIZE DISGORGED.

The Haytian Republic to Leave To-Day in Tow of the Alene. At the Haytian Consulate and the office of the Atlas Steamship Company this morning it was authoritatively stated that the seized Haytian

Steamship Company's dock.

The agreement by which this arrangement is being carried out, is it was said by Lawer Brooke, virtually one between the Haytian and British Governments, as the Alias is an English line.

Republic will leave Port-au-Prince to-day, and will be brought by the Alene direct to the Atlan Indicated by Blakely's tele-thermometer:

1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1887, 1888, 1888, 1887, 1888, to take a special train, but preparations were made at all points to get on the evening train. Telegrams were sent from various points and preparations are being made at almost every place along the line to send squads of armed men to the rescue. constatement of an instructor who was dis-charged by Prof. Reese, who is in charge of the